

If you're a Canadian finishing optometry school in the U.S. or a current Optometrist looking for a change, I have an opportunity for you!

I'd like to put Medicine Hat, Alberta on your radar.

I'm Dr. Kerrie Snider, an optometrist and owner of ClearView EyeCare and Downtown Eyes in Medicine Hat. We've recently expanded, and I'm looking for a new graduate who wants more than simply a place to see patients.

I want to offer you a place to build your career.

At ClearView, you'll have the opportunity to practice to your full scope, with modern technology, experienced mentorship when you want it, and enough autonomy to become the kind of optometrist you want to be.

If there's an area you're particularly interested in—dry eye, glaucoma, myopia management, specialty contact lenses, vision therapy, or something else—I'd like to help you develop it.

And if you're entrepreneurial, I'd like to talk about that too.

For the right person, there is a potential path to ownership.

I'm not looking for someone to simply fill an associate position for a couple of years. I'd love to find an optometrist who sees the potential to build something here long-term.

Why Medicine Hat?

You don't necessarily have to move to Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver or Toronto to build a great career.

Medicine Hat offers something that's becoming increasingly difficult to find in Canada's larger cities: a great professional opportunity without having to sacrifice your quality of life to get it.

You can have a short commute, comparatively affordable housing, great schools, outdoor recreation, and a community where you can actually get to know your patients.

Professionally, you don't have to give anything up.

Our practices are independent, well-established and equipped with advanced diagnostic and treatment technology. You'll have the freedom to practice comprehensive optometry and pursue the areas of the profession that genuinely interest you.

We'll offer competitive compensation, regular hours and flexibility around what you want your practice to look like.

And you'll have mentorship available without someone constantly looking over your shoulder.

You can build a serious optometric career here—and a pretty great life outside the clinic too.

If you're graduating soon and planning your return to Canada, I'd love to have an informal conversation. If you are a Canadian working in the US and looking for a change, I would love to hear from you!

No formal interview. No commitment.

Tell me what you're looking for in your first practice, and I'll tell you what we can offer. If there's a fit, we can take it from there.

I'd love to hear from you. Email me at drsnider@clearvieweyecare.ca
